17 Feb 05

Question 10: SOW 3.2. Level of Effort. Rather than using “1650 hours” (165 per person) per month as the standard, recommend the ONR solicitation state only a requirement of ten man-years. For most companies, a typical year is 2080 hours, which after ten holidays and sick or personal leave would more likely be about 156 (152 – 160) billing hours per month. 165 is not achievable unless employees are not permitted leave, uncompensated overtime is mandated or ONR is requesting offerors to propose “overtime”.

Answer 10: Please see SOW paragraph 3.2.4.

Question 11. SOW 4.9. Organizational Conflict of Interest. In the 9 Feb 05 responses to questions, ONR clarified that offerors may bid on other MATOC CLIN 0002 orders. Can companies, who also hold a CLIN 0001 contract propose on a CLIN 0001 order(s)? Will an organizational conflict of interest plan be required to enforce the point that a company will under no circumstances administer orders or proposals from that same company?

Answer 11: Yes. Yes.
